

Bell 206 Series Helicopters

MISSION CAPABILITIES:

The Bell 206 series helicopters are the most popular light helicopters in the world. These helicopters are at work on nearly every continent of the world. Airborne operations that the helicopters are used for include: VIP transport, law enforcement, medevac, petroleum exploration, geological survey, pipeline patrol, powerline patrol, search & rescue, aerial photography, and aerial survey to name a few.

AIRCRAFT DIMENSIONS:

	206B3	206L4
Length:	39.2'	42.4'
Rotor Diameter:	33.4'	37.0'
Height:	10.8'	10.9'

PERFORMANCE:

	206B3	206L4
Normal Cruise:	105 knots	110 knots
Range:	260 NM	260 NM
Max Gross Wt Internal:	3200 lbs.	4450 lbs.
Max Gross Wt External:	3350 lbs.	4550 lbs.

BELL 206 B3:

The Bell JetRanger is a single pilot, single turbine engine, light helicopter that seats the pilot plus three passengers comfortably. The helicopter's normal cruising speed is approximately 120 MPH. The helicopter may be flown up to two hours and forty minutes before refueling. The pilot operates the helicopter from the right forward seat. The baggage compartment can carry 250 pounds of cargo and is located aft of the passenger compartment.

BELL 206 L4:

The Bell LongRanger is a single pilot, single turbine engine, light helicopter that seats the pilot plus five passengers comfortably. The helicopter's normal cruising speed is approximately 125 MPH. The helicopter may be flown up to two hours and forty minutes before refueling. The pilot operates the helicopter from the right forward seat. The baggage compartment can carry 250 pounds of cargo and is located aft of the passenger compartment.

Bell 206 B3 Jet Ranger

Bell 206 L4 Long Ranger

Long Ranger Interior